EXEMPTION RULES MAY BE RECAST

Mayor and Draft Boards to Confer on Providing Uniform System

BIRTHDAY CASE PUZZLING

Man Who Was 30 Years Old on Registration Day Reaches 31 When Summoned

The large number of men claiming exemption on the ground of being aliens, and similar claim by married men with dependents, has given Mayor Smith and the draft boards grave concern. The Mayor will call a meeting of the draft boards on Monday or Tuesday in the hope of adopting a uniform system of granting exemptions. Varying interpretations have been placed rules from Washington, and it is said by members of the boards that some-thing definite will have to be done that there may be justice for all.

The vital importance of the birthday in its relation to the draft army will probably be threshed out in a test case that will be brought about by Robert Glenn, 1439 Spruce

Mr. Glenn was among those summoned today to the Twelfth and Pine streets station house, where Clinton Rogers Woodruff, chairman of the sixth draft division, and his board are for the fourth day putting through the first business of lining up the mew national army.

Mr. Glenn's case will doubtless decide whether this new army is to have any thirty-year-olders in it, or whether the oldest man will be thirty.

On registration day, Mr. Glenn was thirty, but by the time his summons arrived he had achieved another birthday and is now

He had a book he offered to present to Chairman Woodruff, of the board, to show him that woodruff, of the board, to show him that the Ethical Culture Society had always taken a definite stand against military service. SECOND LIBERTY LOAN CAMPAIGN IS PLANNED

Great Drive for $3,000,000,000 Promises to Overshadow Success of First Canvass

TO START NOVEMBER 15

Much of First Organization to Be Used, Important Conferences Already Having Been Held

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 To sell the second Liberty Loan bonds, a ampaign is being planned which will overshadow the organization and publicity which made the first bond issue such a great success. Much of the first organization will be used, conferences with district Liberty Loan committees and prominent bankers from all parts of the country already having been held.

The second Liberty Loan-for $2,000. 000,000-will be launched November 15, Treasury officials said today. Before that time it is planned to issue nearly a billion dollars in Treasury short-time certificates to meet immediate needs. On top of this situation comes the cropmoving season. With labor high, with rat-road rates at a mark which is enabling the lines to show net revenues in excess of what they were a year ago, despite the fact they did not receive the desired fifteen per cent rate increase, and, with nearly every other element in the commercial system involved in an era of unprecedented high prices, the people soon will be in the midst of a veri-table maelstrom of public and private

When the first installment of $2,000,000,000 of the Liberty Loan was offered and so freely subscribed, the banks of the country had no especially pressing demands upon them; but the country now is facing the crop-moving sceson, when the banks will be called upon by private business for millions of dollars to handle the harvest.

It is not doubted here that the Govern-

It is not doubted here that the Government and people will rise to this occasion, but it is recognized that this season's achievements will be an interesting test of the resourcefulness of the American people under trying circumstances.

Steps are being taken to meet the eventuality. Senator Owen in the Senate and Representative Fisher in the House have offered bills to amend the Federal Reserve act to empower the board to suspend the law preventing national banks or memberlaw preventing national banks or member-banks of the Federal Reserve system to lend to exceed 10 per cent of their capital and surplus to any one firm or individual. The purpose of waiving this prohibition is to enable banks to finance crop movement for farmers with heavy harvests, and for companies who pay the freight and other cost of moving crops which they buy.

Under the terms of the measure, the crops will be made security for the loans. The check on this system is a provision for regulation by the reserve board. The suspension of the prohibition against such loans would be abrogated at the end of the crop-moving season to prevent abuse of the privilege.

In previous years, the Treasury has deposited money with Federal Reserve banks to enable them to assist farmers in crop moving. This was considered desirable when there was no Liberty Loan in the field to compete for the crop-moving money. A reversed situation now will prevail. In-stead of putting money in the banks to help move the crops the Government will be compelled to take out vast sums.
